Issue #3-2020

Another Year Gone By

By Church Mouse

As usual, the Buftons set up a wonderful Christmas tree for my pleasure. I might add that it is too beautiful to have all by myself, so I'm glad the Church gets to enjoy it, as well. And what fun to see more and more presents each week. I'm going to be so busy and happy to open all those presents. Drat! Pastor came in and took all the presents, again ... something about delivering 25 presents to Sterling Village residents. Well it's OK. I do feel giving is better than receiving.

During the summer, it usually gets quiet around here. But not this year; the copier kept printing the Vestry Voices. I'm not a good reader, but my ears were hearing a lot of talk about good articles by a variety of writers. I even caught news that my friend, Mr. Grey Squirrel, had submitted an article. In fact, that is why I'm trying my hand at writing. I have seen a thing or two to glorify God.

I can no longer sleep late on Sunday mornings, because there is too much talking going on at 9AM Bible Study. I usually get a nice quiet break during summer, but this year they were hungry for the "bread." "Bread;" now that sounds like a party for me! The numbers were growing, and one morning I almost got caught "sitting in" as they had to scramble around to add another seat. Well, there is an air about in the room, which makes me feel good, too. I guess it's all that sharing and discovery as they read the same verse from as many different Bibles as they can. Everyone leaving is excited that they were getting fed. Those rascals are so fast with the "bread" that I never see a crumb.

Oh, yes, I was going to mention I have seen a thing or two to glorify God. Having lived here most of my life, I have seen all the pews filled with families with assigned seating to keep order. Back then, the china used for meals never got a rest; it was like a restaurant after church. But as the wind blows, family values are lost. And church attendance drops, compounded by the passing on of the faithful original members. Years ago, there didn't seem to be enough attendance to keep the doors open.

But to the glory of God, the faithful established Trust funds, etc., so that the cost of maintaining First Congregational Church was secured. I've heard it mentioned that when God starts a good work, He sees it through completion. As I have shared my eyewitness account of the Sunday Bible Study, there is a movement of the Holy Spirit. People are becoming extended families to each other. Not of DNA, but by the blood of Jesus. Followers are committing to study the Word that leads to the Kingdom of God. Prayer has become a study after service on some Sundays. There is a hunger to learn the power of prayer, to actively participate in prayer, and understand the need to engage in spiritual warfare.

Change can be slow to turn from our ways. But God is ready to listen to our prayer and has all the answers for us -- now. We have had the wool pulled over our heads. There is a comfort and self satisfaction in our way.

But remember what Church Mouse says, "Come and sit awhile ... there is a party going on here with all the bread you can eat!" Since you're all dressed, come early to discover your life in heaven, on earth. Discover how to enter the Kingdom of God that Jesus teaches his followers to proclaim. There is a movement of the Holy Spirit happening. Only God knows how long and far it will go. You have to experience this for yourself.
